Evaluation Comments

The total score represents the ability to understand the content of the native language for everyday topics and to make it understandable.

This score is the average value weighted by the five language functional area

Total Score

Can understand standard spoken language on both familiar and unfamiliar topics. Has a good command of a broad range of language allowing him/her to select a formulation to express him/herself clearly without having to restrict what he/she wants to say. Can express him/herself at length with a natural colloquial flow with consistent control of grammar; only a conceptually difficult subject can hinder a natural, smooth flow of speech. Can express him/herself fluently and spontaneously, almost effortlessly and produce extended stretches of language with very little hesitation. Can participate in conversations with almost no little obvious planning for relevant expressions.

Fluency

Can express him/herself fluently with high degree of control. Can produce extended stretches of language accurately in logical flow with little hesitation.

Sentence Mastery

61/80

Can demonstrate appropriate use of grammar in various sentences with a mix of simple and complex forms according to the context. Can provide clear, coherent message showing controlled use of organizational patterns and cohesive devices. Makes few mistakes regardless of the length of speech.

Comprehension

72/80

Can understand various types of complex speech in length even when main points or relationships are implied or not explicitly signalled nor structured. Can understand wide range of English dialects and still understand without questioning for misunderstanding unless there are distinct difference in words or phrases. Only spoken language on unfamiliar technical/professional topics delivered at fast native speed can sometimes trigger errors in comprehension.

Vocabulary

56/80

Has a sufficient range of vocabulary and can flexibly use them in most general, academic, vocational or leisure topics. Can choose appropriate vocabulary to support his/her main points.

Pronunciation

48/80

Can pronounce most consonants correctly, and native language doesn't effect delivering overall meaning of the speech. There are some inaccuracies in pronouncing and distinguishing vowels.

For you at this level, to improve the capability of language, you should ~.

Try to think in English about everyday routine matters.

Practice listening to conversations or presentations likely to be encountered in social, professional, or academic life and identifying speaker viewpoints and attitudes as well as the information content.

Practice keeping up with language spoken at a normal speed by watching and summarizing TV news, current affairs programs, documentaries, live interviews, talk shows, plays, and films.

Actively participate in conversations to practice language use on a wide range of general, academic, vocational, or leisure topics.
